FRESHMAN YEAR

A new attraction was added to Keyport High School in 1954 when a group of shy freshmen started the term in September. Being just a side show, the freshman class found it necessary for everyone to work hard to keep up with the fast moving activities of the circus around them.

As a start, some of the members in the class of 172 students participated in the band and the chorus at the Christmas and the Spring Concerts. The girls in the freshman sewing classes took parts in the fashion show held during Open House. Everyone strived to achieve the reward of having an average above eighty-five to become honor roll or high honor roll students. Harold O'Brien was chosen to represent the freshman class on the Student Council.

SOPHOMORE YEAR

Returning the following year as sophomores, 163 strong, our hard work proved worthwhile. More boys joined the football, basketball, and baseball teams. The girls joined the Girls' Athletic Association. Sophomore members of the band and twirling squad were noticed on the marching field and in concerts. A larger number of students discovered the pleasure of staying after school for club meetings or senior play rehearsal.

Sophomore class representatives and student council members were elected to take part in school affairs. Five members of the class were the first sophomore students to be elected to the National Honor Society. They were Meredith Walling, Kathy Mandeville, Dixie Bowman, Ray Brown, and Cathy Franke.

JUNIOR YEAR

As juniors, now a group of 135, we held a prominent place in the greatest show on earth. Our advisors, Mrs. Carlson and Mr. Mitrosky, were introduced to us at our first class meeting in the cafeteria. Class officers were elected as follows: Harold O'Brien, president; Richard Boggs, vice-president; Odette Hertle, secretary; Dorothy Eigenrauch, treasurer.

The presentation of two dances, "Mood Indigo" and "March Madness," for which the students sold tickets to raise funds for the future trip to Washington, were highly successful. The selling of candy also added to these funds.

A better year in football could not be found. The team of Keyport High was undefeated and won the

CLASS HISTORY

Shore Conference Championship in Group B. Our class was proud to have six members on the team.

Five new members were elected to the Honor Society, making a total of ten members to receive certificates of membership at Open House. The new members were Bonnie Greatrex, Karen Gevas, Judy Mainwaring, Dan Whitaker, and Raymond Lo Presto.

Receiving our class rings made us realize that time was growing short; that soon we would star in the main show.

SENIOR YEAR

At last! We stepped into the center ring as the stars. It seemed to have taken such a long time. The following students were elected as officers by the class of 116 members: Richard Boggs, president; James Potts, vice-president; Connie Scacco, secretary; Meredith Walling, treasurer. Our advisors were Mrs. Carlson and Mr. DiFazio.

The first step in the rising action of the year was the "Evergreen Ball," which the seniors sponsored at Christmas. The music of the "Harbor Lights" sounded wonderful as everyone danced around a huge white Christmas tree in the center of the floor.

In December, the student body selected Harold O'Brien and Pati Poling as Campus King and Queen and they were crowned at Open House on March 28. The trip to Washington took place on March 12, 13, and 14, and proved to be an exciting event which no one will ever forget. "Our Town," the senior play, was presented on April 24 and 25. Next came the Spring Concert and the Junior-Senior Dinner Dance, the most important social event of our four years. Final examinations and graduation were the climax and conclusion of a wonderful performance under the big top at Keyport High School.

CLASS PROPHECY

On a bright sunny day two world travelers, MARGARET LAURSEN and NEAL PEARSON, are traveling down the road in their shiny new Ford when they come to a huge billboard reading, "The RAY and ROBERT WALSH Three Ring Circus is in town. Come one, come all to the greatest show on earth!"

Through the circus gates, several people can be seen running about getting ready for the big show. There at the Coke stand is EDDIE FISCHER busily talking to JOAN KINNEAR, the soda jerk. Across the way, two politicians, Senators DAN WHITAKER and ED BILDERBACK, are arguing about the latest issue: "What to do with DIXIE BOWMAN's rocket which doesn't want to leave the ground."

Over by the entrance gate there is a large crowd and in the middle of it are those two glamorous movie stars, GAIL MATTHEWS and MARILYN MATTHEWS, being interviewed by society reporter MYRA MACCIA of the Keyport Weekly, while RAY BROWN snaps the picture. It's good publicity for the business managers, DOT EIGENRAUCH and HARVEY TRUEX, but it's not good for the poor ticket girl, BRENDA PEDRICK, trying to collect admission for the show.

Under the big top is a large crowd and over in one corner there seems to be a disturbance caused by those two wrestlers, RICH BOGGS and BOB ARCHER and boxing champion RAY NAUGHTON. Soon the band, led by RAY LO PRESTO, plays the opening song and the show begins.

Into the main arena steps ring master LOUIS SPAFFORD to announce the main attraction—Mar Vellus, the super-human wonder, who will be shot out of the cannon. Hold tight, ladies and gentlemen! SANDY BROWN is now crawling into the gigantic cannon. Keep your eyes on the center ring . . . four, three, two, one . . . she's off!

Now into the ring walks another star attraction, JEAN SHEPPARD, mambo queen. After her graceful performance, comes the elephant trainer, CAROL LAMBERTSON, and the elephant rider, CORKY HOURAHAN. Then the lights grow dim and the daring tight wire walkers, JOE BROWN, MARIE SOURCE, and GEORGIANNA HELWIG, come into the spotlight.

Suddenly, screams are heard from the audience while DAN JACKSON, the lion tamer, tries to get his cats back into their cage. Next comes the knife thrower, LEONARD BUSICHIO, with his beautiful assistant, JOYCE ADAMS. The big attraction for the youngsters is the trick riding act of OLIVE DAVIS, GAIL DIAMOND, and PRISCILLA ROHDE. The children are also held spellbound by CHRIS WNEK, snake charmer.

It's intermission now, so the crowd is taking a special tour of the circus grounds. Over to the popcorn stand go the two lovers NICKY CHRISTATHAKIS and MARLENE MILLS. Look who's buying hotdogs for her six children! It's MARIE BRUNNER. Selling that ever sticky cotton candy and pink lemonade is BETTY MCGOWAN.

Who's that man standing by the exit fooling with those wires? No, it couldn't be! But yes, it is HERB KONISH, the radio repairman, and with him are RAYMOND KNOTT and FRANKLIN REED, the circus architects. Over at the animal tent are LILA BEHR and CHARLES SMITH training show horses. In the elephant house is veterinarian, MEREDITH WALLING, trying to get Bimbo on her feet.

Look over there! The two clowns, JIMMY POTTS and JOHNNY MEGLIO, are trying to hit golf balls into the kangaroo's pouch, while weight lifter RICHARD BAUMAN is trying to draw a crowd. At the exit gate is policewoman CATHY FRANKE trying to guard PATI POLING, who is collecting for the heart fund.

Quick, your attention, ladies and gentlemen, to that platform in back of us; something is going to happen! Look at all those balloons and streamers! Here comes the barker now. It's STACY CARHART and he's announcing TONY SMITH and his Key Five who have just made a world tour and stopped here for this one show. After the Key Five there will be an extra attraction—the Keyport-Arena Fashion Show. They have received permission from the HAROLD O'BRIEN Modeling Agency to have Miss America, CONNIE SCACCO; Miss World, ODETTE HERTLE; and Miss Universe, PHYLLIS CASSIDY, to model fashions of the future! There are BETTY WAYTE and HELEN WALLING, acclaimed in New York City as famous dress stylists.

Quite a few servicemen are enjoying the show, especially those Navy men, GEORGE AUSTIN and ANTON BOEHLER. Look over there! The Army men, CHARLES HENDRICKS and JOHN MOORE, finally caught up with them!

Over at the administration building in the Publicity Department are those two art directors, JUDY MAINWARING and BONNIE GREATREX, sketching busily while MARLENE BERGER, secretary, is busy typing.

On TOMMY BURKE's elevator, we pass by the offices of FRED SCHWARZ, lawyer; MARIE STOKES, interpreter; and government officials, JUDY LEPICK and ALICE METZGER. Stopping at the second floor, we enter the office of JOE KURDYLA, personnel director, who introduces us to some of the employees including flea circus director, JOAN O'DONNELL.

Here is ANN RUSIGNUOLA, circus director, dictating letters to PAT COURTNEY, stenographer. In another office are accountant LORRAINE ORLANDO, bookkeepers DEANNA EAMELLO and HELEN POST, and receptionists PAULA DUSZIK and MARLENE CHASKOWITZ.

Time is growing short now, but we must get a bite to eat before returning to the show. We stop across the street at KAREN GEVAS's restaurant where we find waitress MARGIE D'ATRIO waiting on MARLENE HYDE, foreign correspondent, and CAROL SICKLES, playwright, while cashier JUDY ARTELLI looks on.

What's this? A school? Yes, it's for the performers' children. The school has a staff of five teachers: LEE CRAWFORD, English; FAITH VARLESE, history; RUSTY MANN, art; BILL HENDERSON, science; and FRANK McHUGH, math. There are two coaches: DAVE ANDERSON of Notre Dame and WALT ZAREMBA, former football star. The principal is JACK KEEFE. Let's not forget the medical staff which includes doctors LARRY DONNELLY and CHRIS GOODHAND, and MARLENE WINTER and FLORENCE RAWLINS, nurses. The circus has everything, even a barbershop run by HENRY CLEMENT and a beauty salon run by DIANE SHEPPELL.

Wait! We can't return to the Big Top without visiting the fortune teller's tent. There it is. Looks like Madame CAROLE NORRIS is not here; sign says: OUT TO LUNCH. We can't wait. The show must have begun already. We arrive in time to see the spectators being amused by that clown, DOROTHY HOFF, followed by her pet pig and a trained monkey. Hold tight, ladies and gentlemen! Here come those daring young trapeze artists, LILLIAN EDMONDS, KATHY MANDEVILLE and SANFORD HARDY. Before their act is completed out comes PAUL HARTZLER, cowboy star. Now, friends, for our last act we present that magician, GEORGE LOCKWOOD, with his lovely assistant, CONNIE TREW.

That was quite an afternoon! At the bus stop ROBERT JONES, tax collector, and sales girl JANET RAUPP are talking about TONY GRANATO, the new owner of the Surprise Store. On the way home we meet JUDY FERM, president of the People's National Bank. With her is BOB KENNEDY, guidance director at Keyport High School.

At the corner is Jersey City playboy, MICHAEL JUSTIN, talking with DAVID BENDER, rich plantation owner, and MARIE AHLERS, champion tennis player.

Home at last! Now to put some quiet music on the radio . . . "Show's over folks," says JUD THORNE, radio broadcaster. "Tune in next year, same station!"

WASHINGTON TRIP

On March 12, 1958, at 7:30 A.M. two Rollo buses came bounding down Broad Street and stopped in front of Keyport High School, where fifty-five excited seniors boarded them and were on their way to Washington, D.C.

Since we were all very hungry, we ate heartily at Sholl's Cafeteria in Washington, and then made our first stop at the Capitol Building for a guided tour. Later we visited the Supreme Court and the Folger Shakespeare Library.

After gathering the stragglers we headed for the Hotel Raleigh. Our tired feet were very thankful for the rest we had for a brief hour. After a very nice dinner at Old Club Tea House, we stopped at the Washington Airport, the third busiest in the world, then the Lincoln Memorial and the Library of Congress.

Back at the hotel, the chaperones thought we would go to sleep; we had other thoughts. The next morning, at 6:00 A.M., however, as we heard the words "rise and shine," we rolled over and said, "Ugh!"

We groaned at the thought of going to the Washington Monument; however, at the top we decided the view was well worth the climb and didn't mind it at all. We then came to what the students, at least, considered the most important stop, the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. From there we went to the F.B.I. building, where we learned no criminal can get away.

After lunching at Scholl's Cafeteria, we went through the snow to the Smithsonian Institute and then off to the Botanical Gardens. From there we drove to Arlington National Cemetery for the changing of the guards at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier—an impressive ceremony. The last stop was the Jefferson Memorial.

After dinner at the hotel we went to the movies. This, of course, was to give our beloved chaperones a well-earned rest.

Our last day in Washington was spent visiting Mount Vernon, the home of George Washington. We then heard a speech given by Congressman Auchincloss of New Jersey. After a cafeteria lunch we started for the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, Maryland. There we saw the beautiful chapel and the tomb of John Paul Jones.

To the chagrin of all the girls, however, we missed the Midshipmen. All too soon we were headed back toward home, but those three glorious days will be forever locked in our memories.

To our chaperones, Mrs. Carlson, Miss Reilly, Mr. DeFazio, and Mr. Jones, we should like to extend our sincere thanks for helping us have fun and enjoyment on our Washington trip.

BAND

Mr. Gerlufsen, director of the band, has developed a fine musical organization. The marching band, resplendent in uniforms of scarlet and gray, thrills the spectators as it parades on the field or down the streets of Keyport.

Each year the band, with the assistance of the chorus and the majorettes, presents two concerts—one at Christmas time and one in the spring.

CHORUS

The Keyport High School Chorus, under the direction of Mr. Franks, has been very active this year. The group has three distinct parts: the Keyettes, the Boy's Glee Club and the Mixed Chorus.

The complete chorus, composed of more than one hundred voices, participated in the annual Christmas and spring concerts. Both the Boy's Glee Club and the Keyettes played a featured part in the annual Open House Program. In addition, the Keyettes led group singing in assemblies and pep rallies. They also sang at the bacca-laureate services for the seniors. Chorus members are chosen by Mr. Franks from his regular classes in vocal music and from those members of the student body who are interested in singing.

MAJORETTES

Our snappy majorettes in red and white add a feminine touch to our football games. They practice during the summer and after school to delight the football crowd with their skillful routines. They also add sparkle to the annual Christmas and spring concerts. A teaching program is conducted in the spring to replace the seniors on the squad. The twirlers and their adviser, Miss Weber, deserve much credit for their perseverance and splendid performances.

FOOTBALL

Guided by Mr. Baker, head coach, and his assistants, Mr. Zampelle, Mr. Geddis and Mr. Zampello, the Red Raiders had a fair season, winning four games and losing five. Despite this record, the team deserves praise for going out on the field and playing hard—win or lose.

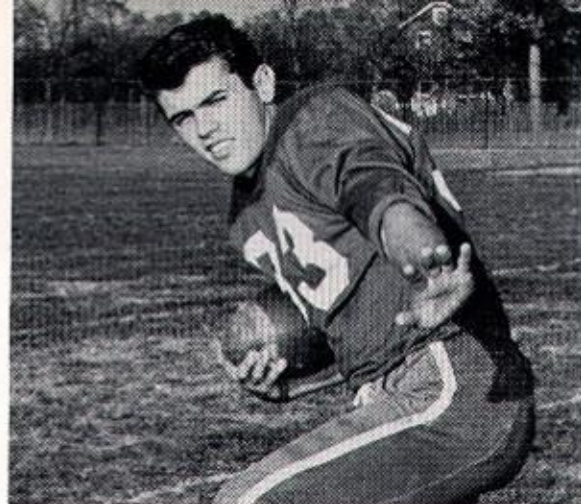

The senior class was well represented with two men in the backfield and four on the line. In addition, there were several underclassmen on the squad who helped to make the Raiders a tough team to beat.

GIRLS' ATHLETIC

Any girl in Keyport High School who participates in at least one after-school sport is eligible for membership in the Girls' Athletic Association. The officers and the adviser, Miss Koban, freshman and sophomore gym teacher, organize the various games and activities for the group. Members are taught skills and techniques of such sports as softball, basketball, volleyball, soccer, hockey, and archery.

Points are awarded for participation in games, practices, and meetings. When a girl has earned seventy-five points, she receives the numerals for her year of graduation; and for one hundred points, the completion of her numeral. When a member has 125 points she is awarded her "K." All awards are presented in June at a special assembly.
